Fan Club's 2017 Review... But It Ain't Over Yet

We busted out of the 2017 gates by meeting our new Fan Club VP, Matt Haas. You can see Matt starring in some light-hearted Fan Club videos on our Facebook page (<http://facebook.com/SenatorsFanClub>)

Our 2017 monthly Diamond Talks

Teamwork

Your Senators Fan Club could really use your assistance as we ramp up our 2018 agenda:

If you're aware of any businesses that we could contact regarding affordable advertising in our Welcome Back program, please contact Matt (717-608-featured guest speakers like a local radio legend who is now a Senators greeter; a SABR committee char; a few local baseball authors; and, even a former Major League pitcher.

We're cobbling together another spectacular guest speaker lineup for you in 2018, so be sure to plan to join us by checking our Events calendar (<http://SenatorsFanClub.com>).

Also, let us know if you have any ideas for guest speakers. The bar has really been set high so we could use trip to the Lehigh Valley Iron Pigs. Before the game, our former Senators, now Syracuse Chefs, got to visit with attending Fan Club members.

We also took our traditional trip to Nats Park for their final Sunday home game. That entertaining game against the Pirates ushered in another Nationals' playoff series.

Winter Hot Stove

We'll get back on schedule with regular Diamond Talk gatherings in 2018. We normally meet the third Tuesday of each month at American Legion Post #143, 214 Market Street, New Cumberland. Be sure to check our 2018 Event Calendar for exact dates.

That means our next Diamond Talk opens the 2018 season on Tuesday, January 16th at 6:30. Feel free to arrive early to order dinner and drinks... and, of course, talk baseball!

We're considering members' ideas for 2018 bus trips to both major and minor league cities. One trip that's already etched on our schedule is our annual "final Sunday home game of the season" day trip to Washington. The Nats host the New York Mets on Sunday, September 23rd.
